

THE ECHELON 12

A 12-week strength, structure, and accountability experience.

THE STANDARD

A composed coaching system that takes a member from assessment to measurable momentum - with a clear next action every week.

PRIVATE COACHING RESOURCE | VERSION 1.0

THE ECHELON 12

The Echelon 12 is the signature coached pathway for members who want structure, measurable progress, and a standard they can maintain after the initial push.

It is not a generic workout calendar. It is a 12-week relationship: clear training, simple nutrition direction, weekly accountability, and a deliberate finish.

WHAT THE MEMBER RECEIVES

- Personalized training: a plan built around current ability, schedule, equipment, and goals.
- Weekly coaching rhythm: one check-in, one review, and one next action every week.
- Nutrition baseline: a realistic starting target and habit focus, adjusted from adherence and feedback.
- Progress evidence: strength markers, photos or measurements when appropriate, and a final review.
- Direct access: member portal messaging for questions, adjustments, and accountability.

COACHING BOUNDARIES

Screen for readiness, modify within scope, and refer out whenever symptoms, injury concerns, or medical questions require a qualified clinician. Do not promise a specific body-composition outcome. Coach behavior, process, and safe progress.

ASSESS. BUILD. ELEVATE.

The program follows a three-phase model. The exact workout selection changes by member; the coaching intent does not.

PHASE	WEEKS	COACHING INTENT	MEMBER FOCUS
ESTABLISH	1 - 4	Assess, teach, stabilize routines.	Movement quality, schedule, nutrition baseline, adherence.
BUILD	5 - 8	Progress the plan and coach the details.	Strength progression, conditioning, recovery, consistency.
ELEVATE	9 - 12	Consolidate results and transition with intention.	Performance, confidence, sustainable next standard.

PHASE NOTES

- Weeks 1 - 4: do not rush intensity. Build confidence with movement quality, attendance, and the first nutrition habit.
- Weeks 5 - 8: progress only what the member can recover from and execute consistently. Review adherence before changing the plan.
- Weeks 9 - 12: reinforce identity and autonomy. The goal is a member who knows how to continue with purpose.

FROM APPLICATION TO WEEK ONE

Complete these in order. Create a Coach Command task whenever a step belongs to a future date or needs follow-up.

STEP 1 REVIEW & ACCEPT

Review the application within two business days. Confirm that the Echelon 12 is the right level of support.

- Read goals, schedule, training history, and stated program interest.
- Send the acceptance message, start-date options, and next payment or booking instruction.
- Create a follow-up task if the member has not selected a start date within 48 hours.

STEP 2 ONBOARD

Collect readiness information before publishing the program.

- Confirm account access, waiver, health intake, emergency contact, goals, and training availability.
- Request starting photos or measurements only with clear member consent.
- Set one primary outcome and two to three behavior targets for Week 1.

STEP 3 BUILD WEEK ONE

Make the first week simple enough to execute and specific enough to build trust.

- Publish the first training block in the Member Portal.
- Set the nutrition baseline and the single highest-priority habit.
- Send the start message with training days, check-in day, and how to ask for help.

STEP 4 SCHEDULE THE RHYTHM

Put the accountability cadence on the calendar before the member begins.

- Set the weekly check-in day and a 15-minute review window.
- Create Week 4, Week 8, and Week 12 review tasks now.
- Log relevant notes in the member record after every meaningful contact.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW

Use the member's Weekly Check-In as the center of your coaching. Review the full pattern before changing training or nutrition.

REVIEW	COACH ACTION
Training completion	Celebrate completed sessions. If adherence is low, reduce friction before adding more work.
Energy, sleep, soreness	Adjust volume, recovery guidance, or exercise selection when the recovery picture calls for it.
Nutrition adherence	Ask what was realistic. Change one variable at a time and keep the next target clear.
Wins and barriers	Name one win, solve one barrier, and assign one next action in the reply.

WEEKLY COACH RESPONSE TEMPLATE

Win: Name what the member did well.

Read: Reflect the pattern you see.

Adjustment: State the one change, if any.

Next action: Give one specific commitment before the next check-in.

FINISH WITH A PLAN.

The final week should make the member feel seen, capable, and clear on what happens next. It is not an ending; it is a decision point.

WEEK 12 REVIEW CHECKLIST

- Compare starting goals with strength markers, adherence patterns, photos or measurements when available, and subjective confidence.
- Ask the member what habits now feel automatic and what still needs support.
- Send a written progress recap with three clear wins and one next focus.
- Present the recommended next path: renewal, 1-on-1 coaching, class membership, or an independent maintenance block.
- Create the follow-up task before closing the review.

CONTINUATION MESSAGE

You did more than complete twelve weeks. You built evidence that you can train with purpose and follow through. Based on your progress, the next right Echelon step is [recommended path]. Let's keep the standard moving forward.

MEMBER COMMUNICATION STARTERS

ACCEPTANCE

Welcome to the Echelon 12. Your application is accepted. The next step is to choose your start date, complete your onboarding items, and reserve your first coaching review. Reply with the option that works best for you: [date option 1] or [date option 2].

WEEK ONE LIVE

Your Week 1 plan is live in the Member Portal. Your focus is simple: complete the scheduled sessions, follow your baseline nutrition target, and tell me what feels smooth or difficult. Your first check-in is [day].

MISSED CHECK-IN

Checking in with you. I have not seen your weekly review yet, and I want to make sure the plan still fits your real week. Reply with the biggest obstacle and I will help you simplify the next step.

WEEK 12 REVIEW

Your Echelon 12 review is ready. Before we meet, take a moment to recognize what changed in your training, routine, and confidence. We will use that evidence to choose your next training block with intention.

The Echelon standard is delivered in the details: clear expectations, composed follow-up, and a member who always knows the next right action.
